

CSEC ENGLISH B

PAPER 1

JAN 2020

Items 1–10

Instruction: Read the following extract carefully and then answer Items 1–10.

Moses is in Waterloo Station, London. There is a confused milling mob of West Indians waiting for the boat-train. Moses is sitting on a bench when a Jamaican friend, Tolroy, comes up.

- TOLROY: Aye, Moses. I didn't expect to meet you in Waterloo for arrivals.
- MOSES: The next time will be my departure, please God. The boat-train late.
- 5 TOLROY: Who you meeting?
- MOSES: Some fellar name Henry.
- TOLROY: Boy, I expecting my mother.
- MOSES: All-you fellars really have guts, yes, Tolroy. Where you going to put she, in that two-be-four you have in Harrow Road?
- 10 TOLROY: I have to look for a bigger place. You know any?
- MOSES: Look, one of your Jamaican countrymen over there waiting like a hawk for tenants. He have a lot of houses in Brixton.
- TOLROY: You know what that set-up like. A chair, a table, and he hitting you anything from three to five guineas.
- 15 MOSES: You try down by Ladbroke Grove? Since they kill Kelso, English people been evacuating like Dunkirk from the area. You bound to get a room.
- TOLROY: Down there too grim.
- MOSES: What you want, Belgravia? Park Lane?¹ Maybe you could put she up at the Dorchester ² till you find a place ...
- 20 The station loudspeaker announces the arrival of the boat-train. An English reporter comes up to them.
- REPORTER: [English] Excuse me sir, have you just arrived from Jamaica?
- MOSES: Am ... er, yes.
- REPORTER: I'm from the Echo ... Would you like to tell me what conditions are like?
- 25 TOLROY: [Enjoying the situation] Yes, Moses, go on and tell him.

GO ON TO THE NEXT PAGE

- MOSES: Well, the situation is desperate as usual. You know that big hurricane it had a few weeks ago?
- REPORTER: Yes?
- 30 MOSES: Well I was in that hurricane. You could ask my friend here if you think I lie. I was sitting down in my mansion when suddenly I look up and see the sky. What you think happen?
- REPORTER: What?
- MOSES: Hurricane blow the roof clean off, banana plantation lay down as if they gone asleep ...
- 35 REPORTER: Tell me, sir, why are so many Jamaicans coming to England? Do you believe the streets are paved with gold?
- MOSES: I don't know about all of them, but sometimes in the night I see as if the Bayswater Road sparkling with diamonds. But then you look in truth you see is only stones and gravel that mix-up with the asphalt. You know of any London street that pave with gold?
- 40 REPORTER: Thank you for that statement. I'll just talk to a few others ...
- MOSES: [Chuckling] Watch him! Like he going to tackle that family that coming off the train.
- 45 TOLROY: [In consternation] That look like my mother! And ... and, Tanty! And Agnes and Lewis! ... and the two children!
- Ma! Look me over here! ... [As he gets near them, panting] What is this all?
- MA: Tolroy boy! You don't remember your own mother?
- TOLROY: [In a daze] But what Tanty doing here, Ma? And Agnes and Lewis and the children?

*Adapted from Samuel Selvon, Eldorado West One,
Peepal Tree Press, 1998, pp. 19-20.*

¹ Affluent neighbourhoods

² A luxurious hotel in London, England

1. The setting is MOST likely

- (A) an airport
- (B) a train station
- (C) an old boat-train
- (D) a house in London

2. Moses' description of Tolroy's dwelling as a "two-be-four" (line 9) indicates to the audience that it is a

- (A) wooden structure
- (B) tenement dwelling
- (C) squatter settlement
- (D) small, confined space

GO ON TO THE NEXT PAGE

3. The BEST explanation of the dramatic effect of the loudspeaker mentioned in the second stage direction (lines 20–21) is that it
- (A) increases the feeling of expectancy
 - (B) encourages the characters to be quiet
 - (C) announces the arrivals and departures
 - (D) reinforces the hustle and bustle of the setting
4. Which of the following lines MOSTLY contributes to humour in the extract?
- (A) “The next time will be my departure, please God” (line 4)
 - (B) “A chair, a table, and he hitting you anything from three to five guineas” (lines 13–14)
 - (C) “What you want, Belgravia? Park Lane? Maybe you could put she up at the Dorchester” (lines 18–19)
 - (D) “Do you believe the streets are paved with gold?” (line 36)
5. The expression “waiting like a hawk for tenants” (lines 11–12) is MOST effective in
- (A) highlighting the fear of the immigrants
 - (B) pointing out the birds that flock the venue
 - (C) emphasizing birds of prey as a metaphor
 - (D) reinforcing the exploitative nature of the business
6. Which of the following are used to indicate that the extract portrays a Caribbean experience?
- (A) Language and diction
 - (B) Dress and names of places
 - (C) Tone and the reference to a hurricane
 - (D) Reference to a banana plantation and gold
7. One of the MAJOR themes in this extract is
- (A) travelling by air and sea
 - (B) despair and hopelessness
 - (C) migration and exploitation
 - (D) dependent countries versus independent countries
8. Moses’ response to the reporter suggests that he
- (A) is ignorant
 - (B) is being sarcastic
 - (C) misunderstood the question asked
 - (D) fears the reporter might embarrass him
9. Tolroy’s reaction to his family’s arrival is BEST described as
- (A) shock and relief
 - (B) joyfulness and longing
 - (C) anxiety and anticipation
 - (D) amazement and confusion

GO ON TO THE NEXT PAGE

10. How do the stage directions in lines 42 and 44, (Chuckling), (In consternation), function as an effective guide to the action on stage?
- (A) They present an indifferent emotional response.
 - (B) They shift the mood from carefree to anticipation.
 - (C) They heighten the suspense about Tolroy's family.
 - (D) They provide a sense of the local community in London.

Items 11-20

Instruction: Read the following extract carefully and then answer Items 11-20.

Miss Civilization

The day after Christmas, midnight. One hears the noise of a file scraping on iron. Alice enters, carrying a candle. Listens intently and goes to the telephone. She speaks in a whisper.

ALICE: Hello, Central. (Impatiently) Wake up! Give me the sergeant — quick. What? I CAN'T speak louder. Hurry, please, hurry. (The sound of the file grows louder.) Hello, are you the sergeant? I am Miss Gardner. There are three men trying to break in. Yes, burglars. My mother is very ill. If they frighten her the shock might be very serious.

VOICE: (Calling from second story) Alice!

ALICE: (With dismay) Mother! (At telephone) Hold the wire. Don't go away! (Runs to curtains, and looks up as though speaking to someone at top of stairs) Mother, why AREN'T you in bed?

VOICE: Is anything wrong, Alice?

ALICE: No, dear, no. I just came down to — get a book I forgot. Please go back, dearest.

VOICE: I heard you moving about. I thought you might be ill.

ALICE: No, dearest, but YOU'LL be very ill if you don't keep in bed. Please, mother — at once. It's all right.

VOICE: Yes, dear. Good night.

ALICE: Good night, mother. (Returns quickly to telephone) Hello! Wait at the foot of our lawn. And when you have the house surrounded, blow three whistles so I'll know you're here. The burglars will be here. I'LL see to that. All YOU have to do is to GET here.

20 (The file is now drawn harshly, and a piece of wood snaps. Alice blows out the candle and exits. The window is raised and the ray of a dark lantern is swept about the room. HATCH puts one leg inside. A pane of glass falls from the window and breaks on the sill.)

HATCH: (Speaking over his shoulder) Hush! Be careful, can't you? (He enters. He is followed by HARRY.) It's all right. Come on. Hurry up, and close those shutters.

25 HARRY: (To REDDY outside) Give me the bag, Reddy.

(REDDY appears at the window. To HARRY he passes a half-filled canvas bag. On his shoulder, he carries another. On entering he slips and falls forward on the floor.)

HARRY: Hush, you fool.

HATCH: Has he broken anything? Has he smashed that silver?

GO ON TO THE NEXT PAGE

30 HARRY: (Feeling in bag) It feels all right.

(HATCH cautiously exits into the hall.)

REDDY: (Lifts bag) We got enough stuff in this bag already without wasting time on ANOTHER house.

35 HARRY: Wasting time! Time's money in THIS house. Look at this silver. That's the beauty of working the night AFTER Christmas; everybody's presents is lying about loose, and everybody's too tired celebrating to keep awake. (Lifts silver Loving cup) Look at that cup!

HATCH: Pick up that bag, Reddy. We can go now.

REDDY: Go? Not till I've got something to eat.

40 HATCH: No, you don't. You can wait till later for something to eat.

REDDY: Yes, I can wait till later for something to eat, but I can wait better if I eat now. (Exit into pantry.) Say, fellers, look at this layout. I found cold birds, and ham, and all kinds of pie, and real wine. (Places tray on right end of table) Sit down, and make yourselves at home.

45 (ALICE appears. She carries the candle, and holds her forefinger warningly to her lips.)

ALICE: (Whispering) Hush! Don't make a noise, please. Please don't make a noise.

HATCH: (In a threatening whisper) Don't YOU make a noise.

ALICE: I don't mean to. My mother is asleep upstairs and she is very ill. And I don't want to wake her — and I don't want you to wake her, either.

50 HATCH: (Angrily) Who else is in this house?

ALICE: No one but mother and the maid servants, and they're asleep. You woke me, and I hoped you'd go without disturbing mother. But when you started making noise, I decided I'd better come down and ask you to be quiet. (As she moves about, REDDY keeps her well in the light of the lantern.) I'm afraid you've a very poor supper. I can't see what you've 55 — would you mind taking that light out of my eyes, and pointing it at that tray?

HATCH: (Sharply) Don't you do it. Keep the gun on her.

ALICE: Oh, I don't mind his pointing the gun at me, so long as he does not point that light at me. (Sternly) Turn it down there, please. (REDDY lets light fall on tray.) (To HARRY) Excuse me, but aren't you getting tired holding that big pistol? Don't you think you might put it down now, and help me serve this supper? (HARRY does not move.) No?
60 Well, then, let the gentleman help me.

*Adapted from Richard Harding Davis, "Miss Civilization";
Retrieved from www.gutenberg.org/files/1742*

GO ON TO THE NEXT PAGE

11. What is happening in lines 1-7 ("The day ... Alice!") of the extract?
- (A) The burglars have awakened Alice's mother and she is upset.
 - (B) The sergeant is scraping a file on iron while he is speaking to Alice.
 - (C) The sergeant tells Alice to come to the station house to make a report.
 - (D) Someone is trying to break into the house and Alice calls the sergeant.
12. The statement, "The burglars will be here. I'LL see to that. All YOU have to do is to GET here" (line 19) gives the audience the impression that Alice is
- (A) smart and confident
 - (B) foolish and devious
 - (C) forgiving and resilient
 - (D) displeased and frustrated
13. Which of the following is an example of irony in the extract?
- (A) Alice is very cautious with the intruders instead of being afraid or angry.
 - (B) The intruders have gotten enough items from the house and are ready to move to another.
 - (C) The intruders are settled in the dining room and are ready for the evening meal.
 - (D) Alice is more concerned with the intruders waking her mother than their leaving the house.
14. The BEST explanation of the dramatic significance of Reddy's falling and his insistence on eating before leaving the house is to
- (A) suggest that he is not a skilful burglar
 - (B) highlight that he is an intelligent person
 - (C) emphasize his determination to remove items from the house
 - (D) imply that having his dinner is more important than robbing the house
15. In which of the following statements does the playwright heighten the tension in the extract?
- (A) "No, dearest, but YOU'LL be very ill if you don't keep in bed." Please, mother — at once. It's all right" (lines 14-15).
 - (B) "We got enough stuff in this bag already without wasting time on ANOTHER house" (lines 32-33).
 - (C) "Say, fellers, look at this layout. I found cold birds, and ham, and all kinds of pie, and real wine" (lines 42-43).
 - (D) "Excuse me, but aren't you getting tired holding that big pistol? Don't you think you might put it down now, and help me serve this supper?" (lines 59-60).

16. How does light function as contrast in the extract?
- (A) It highlights the way for Alice to see the intruders, but it masks her true intentions from them.
 - (B) It illuminates the house, but it obscures the intruders' view of the valuable items in the house.
 - (C) Its sole purpose is to provide light for the characters to move around in the dark house.
 - (D) It emphasizes the well-lit nature of the house so the candle was just a decoration.
17. Lines 48–61, (“I don’t mean to ... let the gentleman help me”), suggest that Alice’s attitude towards the burglars seems to be
- (A) envious, desolate and vengeful
 - (B) undaunted, fearless and respectful
 - (C) ambivalent, demanding and patronizing
 - (D) unconcerned, antagonistic and impassioned
18. The tone of the extract can BEST be described as
- (A) outraged and ironic
 - (B) matter-of-fact and sarcastic
 - (C) tongue-in-cheek and incredulous
 - (D) curiously respectful and antagonistic
19. Which of the following is the MOST plausible ending of the incident in the extract?
- (A) The burglars will leave the house with additional items since they spend more time there.
 - (B) Alice’s mother and the maid servants will go downstairs and meet the burglars having dinner.
 - (C) Alice will call the sergeant and tell him that the men are not burglars but are her friends.
 - (D) The burglars will be so engrossed with their dinner that they will not realize that the police has arrived.
20. Which of the following is an appropriate theme for the extract?
- (A) Power can be used or abused.
 - (B) Always take threats seriously.
 - (C) Conflict may be intentional or unintentional.
 - (D) Survival often encourages people to be resourceful.

Items 21–30

Instruction: Read the following poem carefully and then answer Items 21–30.

The Pond

- There was this pond in the village and little boys, he heard till he was sick were not allowed too near.
Unfathomable pool, they said,
5 that swallowed men and animals just so;
and in its depths, old people said,
swam galliwasps and nameless horrors;
bright boys kept away.
- Though drawn so hard by prohibitions,
10 the small boy, fixed in fear, kept off;
till one wet summer, grass growing lush,
paths muddy, slippery, he found himself
there, at the fabled edge.
The brooding pool was dark
15 Sudden, escaping cloud, the sun came bright; and, shimmering in guilt,
he saw his own face peering from the pool.

*Mervyn Morris, "The Pond". In West Indian Poetry
1989, pp. 28–29.*

21. The first three lines of the poem serve to
- (A) generate humour and conflict
 - (B) create intrigue and engagement
 - (C) narrate a story about a small boy
 - (D) introduce a warning to the reader
22. What impression is created by
"Unfathomable pool" (line 4) and "nameless horrors" (line 7)?
- (A) Fear, dread and danger
 - (B) Risk, invisibility and isolation
 - (C) Darkness, desolation and depth
 - (D) Intrigue, mystique and solitude

23. What does "bright boys kept away" (line 8) suggest about the boy in the second verse?
- (A) He is easily influenced by the other boys.
 - (B) He is curious but cautious.
 - (C) His parents are always watching to see if he behaves.
 - (D) His friends are adventurous and he wants to be like them.
24. What does the poet achieve in the phrase "fixed in fear" (line 10)?
- (A) Personification of the terror the boy is experiencing
 - (B) Creation of a metaphor to portray the fixation of the boy
 - (C) Use of an alliterative device that reinforces the crippling effect of fear
 - (D) Development of a simile that underscores how terrified the boy is of the pond
25. Which of the following lines signals a change in the mood of the poem?
- (A) "that swallowed men and animals just so" (line 5)
 - (B) "bright boys kept away" (line 8)
 - (C) "till one wet summer" (line 11)
 - (D) "shimmering in guilt" (line 16)
26. Which of the following is the BEST explanation for the poet's repetition of "pool" in "unfathomable pool" (line 11), "brooding pool" (line 14) and "the pool" (line 17)?
- (A) Listing the many attempts the speaker makes to visit the pond
 - (B) Reinforcing of the title by giving details about the pond
 - (C) Emphasizing the fables told daily by the old people to the children
 - (D) Stating the specific location of the village where the pond is situated
27. Lines 12–13 ("paths muddy, slippery... fabled edge") are effective because they
- (A) reinforce the inclination to break rules
 - (B) heighten the anxiety and love for adventure
 - (C) evoke a sense of danger and wonder at the forbidden
 - (D) celebrate excitement and freedom
28. Which of the following figurative devices BEST describes the phrase "brooding pool" (line 14)?
- (A) Simile
 - (B) Paradox
 - (C) Allusion
 - (D) Personification
29. The language of the poem can BEST be described as
- (A) formal and old-fashioned
 - (B) practical and non-standard
 - (C) informal and conversational
 - (D) engaging and ungrammatical
30. Which of the following themes is explored in the poem?
- (A) Disobedience and tragedy
 - (B) Confronting guilt and fears
 - (C) Childhood fears and disillusionment
 - (D) Guilt and its crippling consequences

GO ON TO THE NEXT PAGE

Items 31–40

Instruction: Read the following poem carefully and then answer Items 31–40.

The Writer

In her room at the prow of the house
Where light breaks, and the windows are tossed with linden,
My daughter is writing a story.

I pause in the stairwell, hearing
5 From her shut door a commotion of typewriter-keys
Like a chain hauled over a gunwale.

Young as she is, the stuff
Of her life is a great cargo, and some of it heavy:
I wish her a lucky passage.

10 But now it is she who pauses,
As if to reject my thought and its easy figure.
A stillness greatens, in which

The whole house seems to be thinking,
And then she is at it again with a bunched clamor
15 Of strokes, and again is silent.

I remember the dazed starling
Which was trapped in that very room, two years ago;
How we stole in, lifted a sash

And retreated, not to affright it;
20 And how for a helpless hour, through the crack of the door,
We watched the sleek, wild, dark

And iridescent creature
Batter against the brilliance, drop like a glove
To the hard floor, or the desk-top,

25 And wait then, humped and bloody,
For the wits to try it again; and how our spirits
Rose when, suddenly sure,

It lifted off from a chair-back,
Beating a smooth course for the right window
30 And clearing the sill of the world.

It is always a matter, my darling,
Of life or death, as I had forgotten. I wish
What I wished you before, but harder.

Richard Wilbur, "The Writer". Retrieved from <https://www.poemhunter.com/poem/the-writer>

GO ON TO THE NEXT PAGE

31. Stanza 1 creates the image of a
- (A) prowler peering through moss-covered front room windows
 - (B) broken window, bushes and an inexperienced writer at her desk
 - (C) room, windows covered with plants and a girl writing her story
 - (D) boathouse, a house with bright windows and a girl writing her story
32. The phrase "a commotion of typewriter-keys" (line 5) is effective because it
- (A) reinforces the metallic drumming of the keys on the desk
 - (B) reproduces disorder and discontent in the pace of writing
 - (C) describes the systematic and steady sound of the typewriter
 - (D) recreates the rapid and excited sound of the writer at work
33. "Like a chain hauled over a gunwale" (line 6) captures the
- (A) picture of the daughter on a ship
 - (B) metallic imagery of the gunwale
 - (C) image of a locked room and a ship at sea
 - (D) clamour the typewriter keys are making in the quiet house
34. The bird's situation (stanzas 6 to 10) is used to comment on the human condition as it
- (A) reinforces the notion that beauty, blood and defeat make compelling stories
 - (B) represents the theme that tenacity, fright and failure are in the natural environment
 - (C) underscores the idea that folly, fear and freedom are recognized in small and simple experiences
 - (D) shows that pain, struggle and eventual success can become a universal and celebrated experience
35. Which of the following BEST describes the speaker's attitude to his or her daughter?
- (A) Respectful and protective
 - (B) Observant and authoritative
 - (C) Indifferent and sympathetic
 - (D) Judgemental and thoughtless
36. The BEST explanation of the function of "The whole house seems to be thinking" (line 13) is that it
- (A) develops the idea of thinking walls, talking houses and meditation
 - (B) compares the parent's silence in their house to the keys of the typewriter
 - (C) personifies the boathouse and introduces the peacefulness of the sea imagery
 - (D) heightens the contrast with the typewriter in action and the quietness of thought

37. Which of the following adjectives BEST describe the bird in stanzas 7 and 8 (lines 19–24)?
- (A) Sleek, angry and dazed
 - (B) Dazzling, dark and wild
 - (C) Unique, grey and helpless
 - (D) Curious, trapped and colourful
38. Which of the following is the BEST example of an extended metaphor in this poem?
- (A) The prow which is compared to the house with the window covered with linden
 - (B) The glove that represents the bird that seeks to escape entrapment from the room and sure death
 - (C) A voyage which compares the challenges of growing up to a journey at sea, with all the dangers
 - (D) A ship on the ocean which personifies the bird and the doting parent who wishes a safe passage
39. Which of the following figurative devices BEST describes the phrases “her life is a great cargo” (line 8) and “Beating a smooth course for the right window” (line 29)?
- (A) Irony
 - (B) Simile
 - (C) Metaphor
 - (D) Personification
40. Which of the following is an example of contrast in the poem?
- (A) The battered bird and the silent house that waits
 - (B) The active typewriter and the much used desk-top
 - (C) The daughter who writes and the father who is nonobservant
 - (D) The daughter’s youth and the burden of her life experiences

Items 41–50

Instruction: Read the following extract carefully and then answer Items 41–50.

I can't remember how Bev and I became friends, but I remember at first feeling displaced by her as leader of our neighbourhood group of children at large, in the summer holidays. She came from a family that was even bigger than mine and up until that time I had been the child to hold that particular distinction. I had six brothers, which meant people thought twice about interfering with me. Bev had eight brothers. My parents had nine children. There were twelve children in the Lyons' household, and when her family moved into the neighbourhood, she just naturally assumed the leadership role that I had held until then.

I loved visiting the Lyons' house. They lived in "their own place" which made them rich in the eyes of everyone. The first time I visited their house, I remember wishing that I lived there. Unlike my house where somebody was always correcting you for "sitting down bad" or "common behaviour", the Lyons were a marvellously free and uninhibited people. They yelled at each other, screamed with laughter, and used language that would send my mother for the brown soap to scour out somebody's mouth.

The first time I witnessed Mrs Lyons trying to discipline Vavan, "the baby" of the family, I was truly astonished. Vavan did some really dreadful thing, Mrs Lyons screamed at him to "beyave", he replied, "Gwyeframme". She tried to grab him, he stuck out his tongue at her, dropped to his belly, wriggled under the bed, and from his dark hideout shouted at her. She yelled that she was going to tear his backside and seized a broom. She must have seen me staring at her because she advised me to go outside and play in the yard, then they resumed the duel, he with the foul mouth and she with the broomstick.

All sorts of wonderful things happened at the Lyons' house. Periodic fights would break out between the brothers who would fight each other fiercely until their mother appeared and sometimes doused them with a goblet of cold water. My friend Bev had all sorts of lovely toys and games to play with, but mostly she had a wonderful talent for organizing great events. These could range from the really low-level act of getting a group of children together to go and tease Rose — who lived several streets away, to organizing dolls' tea parties, weddings and pregnancies, to the Dolly Funeral.

My mother was not consistent when it came to allowing me to play at other people's houses. Some days for no reason, she would say, "Don't leave the house today. Sometimes you should let people long to see you." The day of the funeral was one of those days. I got dressed to walk over to Bev's house and as I approached my mother to ask her permission/inform her where I was going, she said, "Don't leave the house, etc." I pleaded with her, I enquired of her if she did not remember me telling her all about the arrangements for the funeral, how important it was that I go because I was going to read from the Bible and could she "just please do, I beg you, Mama, make me go." My mother started the sewing machine by slapping the rim of the handle with her palm and proceeded to pump the broad flat pedal at a fierce rate. That action, read by any fool, clearly meant, "Don't say anymore."

GO ON TO THE NEXT PAGE

40 So I subsided in a corner of the verandah and wept. As with each time I felt I had been dealt an injustice by my parents, I imagined that I was not their child. That I had been the victim of a careless hospital blunder and that my real parents were out there somewhere in Kingston. Nice people, who would never deprive me of the right to attend a Dolly Funeral.

45 As the time of the funeral approached, Bev came over to inquire why I was not present at the site and saw me sobbing on the verandah. I told her what my mother had said; she said, kissing her teeth, "Chuh just teef out," and I for the first time in my life just did that, I sneaked out of the yard without my mother's permission.

Adapted from Lorna Goodison, "The Dolly Funeral." In By Love Possessed, Amistad, Canada, 2011, pp. 135-140.

41. The MAIN purpose of the opening paragraph is to explain
- (A) how Bev and the narrator became friends
 - (B) differences between Bev and the narrator
 - (C) how the narrator was displaced as leader by Bev
 - (D) why Bev moved in to the neighbourhood
42. The MOST significant difference between the Lyons' household and the narrator's is the
- (A) number of men who lived there
 - (B) vast freedom exercised by members in the Lyons' household
 - (C) higher social and economic class that the narrator belonged to
 - (D) effective disciplinary measures undertaken in the Lyons home
43. The description of the Lyons' house and family reveals primarily that the narrator
- (A) is fiercely protective of her parents and her family
 - (B) has an observant, perceptive, precocious personality
 - (C) is no more than a naïve, underexposed adolescent
 - (D) has feelings of jealousy and anger towards her friend
44. Which of the following words BEST describe the different personalities of Bev and the narrator respectively?
- (A) Generous, fearful
 - (B) Excitable, organized
 - (C) Strong-willed, obedient
 - (D) Level-headed, determined
45. Which of the following statements BEST describes the relationship between the narrator and her mother?
- (A) They hate each other since both are strong and wilful characters.
 - (B) The narrator feels a strong sense of duty and responsibility for her mother.
 - (C) The narrator resents her mother's inconsistency and disciplinary methods.
 - (D) They are ashamed of each other for different reasons and with different intensities.
46. In the passage, Bev is MOST concerned with
- (A) emphasizing the wealth and values upheld by the Lyons family
 - (B) minimizing the importance of parental authority in families
 - (C) maintaining the friendships she has developed in the community
 - (D) sustaining her leadership among the children in the community

GO ON TO THE NEXT PAGE

47. The narrator's daydream of a different family who would never deprive her of the opportunity to attend a Dolly Funeral (line 41) suggests that the
- (A) narrator is critical of her parents and thinks they are unreasonable
 - (B) writer is unaware of the complex issues surrounding motherhood
 - (C) protagonist is an unhappy, imaginative child desiring a more suitable, richer family
 - (D) antagonist feels restricted after losing the freedom she had grown to expect
48. Based on the narrator's view of the Lyons family, which of the following expressions most obviously suggests an ironical point of view?
- (A) "the Lyons were a marvellously free and uninhibited people"(line 11).
 - (B) "All sorts of wonderful things happened at the Lyons' house" (line 21).
 - (C) "That action, read by any fool, clearly meant, "Don't say anymore" (lines 36-37).
 - (D) "I sneaked out of the yard without my mother's permission" (lines 44-45).
49. In the extract, the voice of the child-narrator is engaging because it is
- (A) colloquial, using dialect that highlights the cultural context of the narrative
 - (B) detached while describing the environment which affects her situation
 - (C) impersonal in maintaining an objective view of the events that occur throughout the narrative
 - (D) confessional, agonizing over sinful acts of using obscene language and sneaking out of the house
50. The dominant theme of the extract can BEST be stated as
- (A) the consequences of indecision can be damaging to one's self-esteem
 - (B) age and reason are powerful motivators influencing the actions of adults
 - (C) parental love and authority implies harsh discipline and lack of concern for their children
 - (D) growing up is challenging and survival may require trickery, adjustment and risk-taking

GO ON TO THE NEXT PAGE

Items 51–60

Instruction: Read the following extract carefully and then answer Items 51–60.

Emiko had finished weeding the front border and was about to go inside to escape the heat when she saw the new neighbour woman plodding across the sand toward her. A cotton shift could not conceal her thinness, nor a straw hat her tousled gray curls. Her eyes were fragile lilac glass above the wide smile.

- 5 “Hello, I’m Mattie Barnes. I just thought I’d come over and introduce myself while Roy is finishing up.”

They talked about adjusting to desert life and Emiko learned that Mattie’s husband, Roy, had recently retired. “We decided to move here because the doctor said it would be better for my lungs,” Mattie explained, wiping her brow.

- 10 Within a few weeks after their arrival, the Barneses had settled into a routine: Roy making daily trips to the local store and the Roadside Café; Mattie tending her garden and walking to church once a week with Emiko and her daughter, Jenny.

- 15 One day while Emiko was engrossed in pinning a dress pattern for Jenny she suddenly heard a tapping on the screen, like the scrambling of a large beetle. She half-turned and felt a jolt of alarm at the sight of a grinning gargoyle haunched before the glass, hands splayed open on either side of his face, the caricature of a boy peering covetously into a toy store.

“Hey there! I caught you day-dreaming!” he chortled. “Looks like you need some company to wake you up.”

- 20 “I’m not day dreaming; I am trying to figure out how to make a two-and-a-half yard dress out of two yards,” she said. “Jenny is growing so fast, I can hardly keep up with her.”

Roy walked into the house unbidden, confident of a welcome, and drew a chair up to the table. He fingered the bright cotton print spread over the table and gazed at Emiko, his head cocked to one side. Emiko delicately edged the cotton fabric away from Roy’s damp, restless fingers. “I haven’t seen Mattie outside this week. How is she feeling?”

- 25 “Oh, ‘bout the same, ‘bout the same,” he said, his irritation subsiding into brave resignation. “She has her good days and her bad days. The doctor told her to stay in bed for a while and take it easy.” “It must be hard on Mattie, having to stay indoors,” Emiko said, thinking of her peering out through the pale curtains at the wilting zinnias and the new weeds in the backyard. Roy viewed the garden as the site of onerous labor. To Mattie, it was the true world of the heart, with no room for ungentle or impatient hands. It was a place of deeply sown hopes, lovingly nurtured and its colours were the colours of unspoken dreams.

30 “Plants!” Roy threw up his hands. “That’s not for me, Emily, my dear.” She stiffened as he repeated the name, savouring the syllables. “Emily ... Emily ... Yes, I like the sound of that — Emily.”

- 35 “My name is Emiko,” she said quietly, her eyes as hard as agate. “I was named after my grandmother who was beautiful and loved to swim. When she emerged from the sea, her long black hair would glitter white with salt. I never met her but she was beautiful and she would laugh when she rose from the waves. My name is Emiko, Emi for short.”

GO ON TO THE NEXT PAGE

"But Emily is such a pretty name," Roy protested. "It fits you."

"It's not my name," she said, swallowing a hard knot of anger. I don't like to be called Emily!"

*Adapted from Valerie Matsumoto, "Two Deserts". In The Woman That I Am: The Literature and Culture of Contemporary Women of Colour.
St Martin's Press, 1994, pp. 229-236.*

51. The expression "Her eyes were fragile lilac glass above the wide smile" (lines 3-4) reveals that Mattie is

(A) strong and open
(B) old and vulnerable
(C) delicate and friendly
(D) beautiful and elegant

52. How does the desert landscape function in the extract?

(A) It helps readers understand the protagonist and antagonist.
(B) It assists readers in understanding the thematic concerns of the narrative.
(C) It mirrors conflict between characters and within their environment.
(D) It presents a physical environment which contrasts the character's personality.

53. Which of the following are MOST likely reasons the writer chooses to make Mattie adept at growing plants?

I. Demonstrates that she is attuned to the world around her
II. Reveals the contrasting personalities of the married couple
III. Highlights that she is overwhelmed by domestic chores

(A) I and II only
(B) I and III only
(C) II and III only
(D) I, II and III

54. What does the writer suggest when "Emiko delicately edged the cotton fabric away from Roy's damp, restless fingers" (line 23)?

(A) Roy is impatient and in love with Emiko.
(B) Emiko is tactful and does not like Roy.
(C) Roy is arrogantly self-confident and sweats profusely.
(D) Emiko is scornful and does not want the cloth to get soiled.

GO ON TO THE NEXT PAGE

55. The writer uses "the wilting zinnias and the new weeds in the backyard" (line 28) to suggest that Mattie is
- (A) ill and perhaps dying
 - (B) homesick and unhappy
 - (C) indifferent in her feelings for Roy
 - (D) busy and too tired to care for the garden
56. Roy and Mattie's views of the garden in ("Roy viewed ... Emily my dear") (lines 28–32) suggest that it is a metaphor which comments on the
- (A) couple's unfulfilled dreams
 - (B) couple's different approaches to life
 - (C) twosome's unspoken challenges and their inadequate solutions
 - (D) spouses' loving romance and strong union that endures all things
57. What figurative device is used in the expression "her eyes as hard as agate" (line 34)?
- (A) Simile
 - (B) Symbol
 - (C) Metaphor
 - (D) Personification
58. What tone does Emiko use in explaining the history of her name to Roy?
- (A) Angry and meditative
 - (B) Sarcastic and paranoid
 - (C) Assertive and indignant
 - (D) Nostalgic and unemotional
59. The major theme arising from the interaction between Emiko and Roy is
- (A) fear of failure
 - (B) personal identity
 - (C) quest for knowledge
 - (D) cultural confrontation
60. What attitude and values does Emiko consistently demonstrate?
- (A) Disrespect for religious tradition and conformity
 - (B) Respect for her personal history and her physical and spiritual worlds
 - (C) Resentful fulfilment of her maternal obligations and domestic duties
 - (D) Responsibility for the physical environment and triumph in conquering it

END OF TEST

IF YOU FINISH BEFORE TIME IS CALLED, CHECK YOUR WORK ON THIS TEST.

The Council has made every effort to trace copyright holders. However, if any have been inadvertently overlooked, or any material has been incorrectly acknowledged, CXC will be pleased to correct this at the earliest opportunity.