

57. Which of the following techniques are used to persuade in this advertisement?
- I. Showing of the container
 - II. Financial enticement
 - III. Appeal to fears and desires
- (A) I and II only
 - (B) I and III only
 - (C) II and III only
 - (D) I, II and III
58. A language device used in the advertisement to persuade is
- (A) paradox
 - (B) metaphor
 - (C) hyperbole
 - (D) rhetorical questions
59. What might be the purpose of the size of the font used to describe the side effects?
- (A) It suggests that the side effects are minor.
 - (B) It hides possible consequences of using the product.
 - (C) It misdirects the reader and leads to erroneous conclusions about acne.
 - (D) It demonstrates that the problems are minor in comparison to the benefits.
60. The words "while stocks last" under the checked price MOST likely would have the effect of
- (A) enticing the customer to save money
 - (B) persuading the reader to buy the product quickly
 - (C) prompting Caribbean people to go in search of the product
 - (D) fooling the prospective buyer into thinking he/she needs the product

52. The repetition of the words "so much" and "so many" serves to
- (A) minimize the variety of attractions in Celestial
 - (B) highlight the writer's lack of words to describe Celestial
 - (C) summarize the list of activities from which visitors can select
 - (D) convey the writer's excitement about the variety of things to do
53. Which of the following phrases suggests the variety of experiences Celestial offers, as presented by the writer?
- (A) "your choices are endless" (line 8)
 - (B) "engaging ways" (line 9)
 - (C) "nice alternative" (line 12)
 - (D) "what comes naturally" (line 13)
54. According to the extract, visitors to Celestial may stay at all of the following EXCEPT
- (A) hotels
 - (B) resorts
 - (C) rest stops
 - (D) guesthouses

34. Lines 2 and 3, (The months of ... in the stillness), suggest that preparations for carnival entail a great deal of
- (A) waste
 - (B) tension
 - (C) hard work
 - (D) excitement
35. The repetition of "and" in line 3 of the extract is intended to show
- (A) the specific activities involved in costume making
 - (B) how important each of the activities is to the band
 - (C) the continuous nature of the activities involved in preparing
 - (D) the boring nature of the many activities before carnival itself
36. Lines 4 and 5, (women and children ... dressed hurriedly), suggest that
- (A) time was passing quickly
 - (B) no one wanted to miss the spectacle
 - (C) the people had overslept that morning
 - (D) people did not have much clothing to put on
37. "What reverence and what awe" (line 11) reveals that the spectators were
- (A) captivated
 - (B) astonished
 - (C) bewildered
 - (D) apprehensive
38. The reaction of the people to Aldrick's dance was one of
- (A) laughter and fear
 - (B) arrogance and surprise
 - (C) recognition and approval
 - (D) uncertainty and suspicion
39. The last sentence of the extract (lines 17-20) gives the impression that Aldrick's dance is intended to be
- (A) cheerful
 - (B) amusing
 - (C) surprising
 - (D) frightening
40. In describing carnival, the writer makes use of the senses. Which of the following senses is NOT used in the extract?
- (A) Taste
 - (B) Sight
 - (C) Smell
 - (D) Hearing
41. The MOST suitable title for the extract is
- (A) The Weak Dragon
 - (B) The Dragon's Heart
 - (C) The Decline of Carnival
 - (D) Carnival in Port-of-Spain

42. The writer's use of the phrase "as they did when the dinosaurs ruled" (line 4) is intended to
- (A) indicate the time which has passed
 - (B) compare the ants with the dinosaurs
 - (C) express concern over the ants' actions
 - (D) remind the reader of the process of evolution
43. The purpose of paragraph 1 (lines 1-6) is to
- (A) show how man has transformed the world and himself
 - (B) compare the development of man with that of other living things
 - (C) give examples of the living things found on land, in the air and in water
 - (D) trace the history of civilization from earliest times to the beginning of man
44. In lines 7-8, the writer's comparison between the human brain and the heart serves to
- (A) draw attention to the fact that the brain never stops working
 - (B) stress the fact that it is the brain which separates animals from man
 - (C) indicate that both organs are crucial to the working of the human body
 - (D) point out that because these organs are similar their importance is forgotten
45. Which of the following is NOT mentioned by the writer as a source of man's remarkable powers?
- (A) Man's reflexes
 - (B) The human brain
 - (C) Man's capacity for speech
 - (D) The dexterity of the human hands
46. One quality of our tool making ancestors, identified by the writer in paragraph 3 (lines 13-18), is that they were
- (A) reflective
 - (B) handsome
 - (C) hardworking
 - (D) unimaginative
47. The writer's intention in lines 13-18 is to
- (A) acknowledge the skill of man
 - (B) trace the development of tools
 - (C) underscore the slow process of change
 - (D) show the relationship between efficiency and beauty
48. In paragraphs 4 and 5 (lines 19-30), the author links the actual beginnings of civilization with the
- (A) cultivation of plants
 - (B) discovery of the stars
 - (C) establishment of the calendar
 - (D) observation of seasonal change
49. According to the passage, in what order did the following accomplishments take place?
- I. Refining of stone tools
 - II. Transformation of earth into pottery
 - III. Command of the element of fire
 - IV. Perfection of plant life
- (A) I, IV, III, II
 - (B) I, III, II, IV
 - (C) III, II, IV, I
 - (D) IV, II, III, I

GO ON TO THE NEXT PAGE

Items 1-5

Instructions: Each sentence has either one or two words missing. Choose from the four options the word or pair of words which BEST completes the meaning of the sentence. Mark your choice on the answer sheet.

1. Justice must be seen to be done, for treatment can cause great
(A) unfair resentment
(B) pronounced anger
(C) unlawful surprise
(D) unrewarded bitterness
2. An attack on someone when that person is most vulnerable may be but is always
(A) inappropriate thoughtful
(B) rewarded satisfying
(C) destructive distressing
(D) effective unkind
3. Her criticism was constructive and honest, with no whatsoever.
(A) malice
(B) candour
(C) coherence
(D) directness
4. The journalists were impressed by the of the statesman whose speeches had a profound on all who heard them.
(A) eloquence effect
(B) presence result
(C) emotion sensation
(D) appearance reaction
5. There are many who would try to your efforts because of their jealousy.
(A) assist
(B) affect
(C) thwart
(D) encourage

Items 26-31

Instructions: Read the following poem carefully and then answer Items 26-31 on the basis of what is stated or implied.

Beat That Light

I think the horses must be laughing,
Kicking up their heels and chaffing,
Watching from their green abode
The things that drove them off the road,
5 Whinnying in soft derision
At breakdown, blowout and collision,
Neighing, as they roam the prairies,
Motorists' obituaries.

10 Read the epitaphs¹ on Monday
Of drivers various and Sunday;
Beep the horn and howl the klaxon²
For Hebrew, Latin, and Anglo-Saxon;
Howling klaxon, beeping horn,
The funeral dirge on Monday morn,
15 Usher out the unlucky drivers
Without convincing the survivors
Here's a curve and here's a truck,
Take a chance, and trust to luck,
The next one's practically standing still.

¹epitaph — a short piece of writing or poem about a dead person
²klaxon — a type of loud horn formerly used on motor vehicles

26. Why does the poet feel the horses are laughing (line 1)?
- (A) He hears them laughing.
(B) The prairie is all theirs to roam.
(C) They are treated well by their owners.
(D) They were replaced with something which causes harm.
27. What are "the things" suggested in line 4?
- (A) Vehicles
(B) Accidents
(C) Explosions
(D) Traffic jams

Items 50-54

Instructions: Read the following extract carefully and then answer Items 50-54 on the basis of what is stated or implied.

Celestial is not just for tourists; many from neighbouring islands find themselves hopping over to Celestial during a long weekend for a quick and enjoyable escape. That is because people know that on this tiny isle there is so much to see, so much to do and so much to offer.

5 All the leisure time you have during your stay can be spent so many different ways. Maybe you would prefer to spend your holiday sleeping-in late into the afternoons, awaking to be served a scrumptious breakfast in bed, lounging around the pools or beaches, basking in the warm sun, souvenir shopping or mingling with the locals and acquainting yourself with a new and fascinating culture. With so many different things to do on the island, your choices are endless.

10 There are so many engaging ways to experience the pleasing sights, sounds and scenery of this island paradise. Sightseeing, though, is by far one of the most fun and dynamic ways of learning about all that Celestial has to offer.

A nice alternative to the typical travel itinerary, with scheduled times for specific activities, is to do what comes naturally here and take it slow, stop as you go, pull over at lookout points and rest stops for an eat and a drink, while chatting and admiring some extraordinary places of interest.

15 The most developed areas of Celestial are relatively modern, with numerous trendy hotels. A few resorts and scattered, modest guesthouses can be found, in addition to the international airport.

Along the Caribbean coast there is a seemingly infinite stretch of white sandy beaches, which are a favourite with tourists. Bliss Town is the vibrant and scenic capital and port that is the hub of all the island's activities.

*Adapted from "Top Tourist Towns"
The Guardian, 22 August 2006, p. 61*

50. What is the writer's MAIN purpose?

- (A) To state the location of Celestial
- (B) To encourage tourists to visit Celestial
- (C) To compare the various attractions in Celestial
- (D) To describe the important features of Celestial

51. According to the extract, Celestial is located

- (A) in the capital
- (B) in Bliss Town
- (C) in the Caribbean
- (D) near the coastline

Items 11-15

Instructions: Some of the following sentences are unacceptable because of inappropriate grammar, idiom or vocabulary. Some sentences are acceptable as they stand. No sentence contains more than one inappropriate element.

Select the ONE underlined part that is inappropriate and choose the corresponding letter, A, B, C. If the sentence is acceptable as it stands, choose D.

11. The team was not in no mood to continue the game and went off the field. No Error
(A) (B) (C) (D)
12. Had they not been forewarned, they might have joined the queue, not knowing that gas was not on sale at the station. No Error
(A) (B) (C) (D)
13. One of the admirable characteristics of the young is that they are not easily scared. No Error
(A) (B) (C) (D)
14. As John listened to the lesson being taught, he began to loose interest. No Error
(A) (B) (C) (D)
15. The problem with the students is that they arrive late, gives no excuse, and are rude when spoken to. No Error
(A) (B) (C) (D)

Items 6–10

Instructions: Select the option A, B, C or D that BEST describes EACH of the sentences and mark your choice on the answer sheet.

- (A) The sentence is acceptable as it stands.
- (B) The sentence contains clichés or misused metaphors.
- (C) The sentence is incorrect grammatically or faulty in diction.
- (D) The sentence is too wordy, that is, repetitive or contains redundancies.

- 6. Its not absolutely necessary for it to be done today.
- 7. Traffic bottlenecks must be ironed out if we are to prevent giant traffic congestion.
- 8. The decorations chosen for the venue complimented the theme of the gathering.
- 9. To clarify the situation, I will write a new set of guidelines.
- 10. He advanced a step or two to meet his attacker who suddenly became alarmed and retreated back four or five paces.

- 9 -

28. Which of the following words suggests the drivers' destiny?
- (A) Whinnying (line 5)
 - (B) Breakdown (line 6)
 - (C) Obituaries (line 8)
 - (D) Howling (line 13)
29. According to the poet, what days seemed to be most prone to fatalities?
- (A) Mondays
 - (B) Sundays
 - (C) Festivals
 - (D) Public holidays
30. What is the poet's tone in lines 17-18?
- (A) Sarcastic
 - (B) Persuasive
 - (C) Indifferent
 - (D) Enthusiastic
31. The poet is recommending that drivers drive
- (A) slowly
 - (B) quickly
 - (C) carefully
 - (D) recklessly

Items 16-20

Instructions: Each sentence in this section has ONE underlined word or phrase. Choose from the four suggested answers the word which is closest to OPPOSITE in meaning to the underlined word.

16. She paid meticulous attention to her work as she attached the beads to the costume.
- (A) scant
 - (B) careful
 - (C) detailed
 - (D) cautious
17. The manager decided to inform the staff about all complaints received from customers.
- (A) requests
 - (B) demands
 - (C) suggestions
 - (D) compliments
18. They lived in a large, sprawling, dilapidated house.
- (A) remote
 - (B) historic
 - (C) well-kept
 - (D) unfinished
19. After the story was published in the newspaper his colleagues ostracized him.
- (A) accepted
 - (B) discussed
 - (C) understood
 - (D) recognized
20. The firm was forced to retrench some workers in order to continue operating.
- (A) demote
 - (B) employ
 - (C) dismiss
 - (D) promote

Items 21-25

Instructions: Each sentence in this section is followed by four sentences A, B, C and D. Choose the one NEAREST IN MEANING to the original sentence.

21. The Europeans who were not well off were those who came to the West Indies in search of wealth.
- (A) Unemployment at home caused Europeans to come to the West Indies to seek their fortune.
 - (B) Europeans settled in the West Indies because they were told that they would become richer.
 - (C) Financial difficulties at home made Europeans who came to the West Indies decide to settle there.
 - (D) Europeans who came to the West Indies to seek their fortunes were the ones who were not wealthy.
22. John still wanted to marry Mary even though she had lost all her money.
- (A) John agreed to marry Mary although she had lost all her money.
 - (B) Mary's money did not matter to John who still wanted to marry her.
 - (C) The loss of all Mary's money did not affect John's wish to marry her.
 - (D) John intended to marry Mary even if she were to lose all her money.
23. The news shocked me so much that I almost forgot what I wanted to say.
- (A) The news was so shocking that I could not move.
 - (B) I nearly didn't speak again after the shock of the news.
 - (C) I was so shocked by the news that I could hardly speak.
 - (D) I could hardly remember my message after such shocking news.
24. If students' efforts are rewarded they would be encouraged to work harder.
- (A) Students must be encouraged to work hard.
 - (B) If students work harder, they will be praised for their effort.
 - (C) When students are praised for their efforts, they excel.
 - (D) Students whose efforts are compensated generally work better.
25. No right thinking person who has lived in the country will fail to understand my disgust at noise.
- (A) Every right thinking person will understand my disgust at noise in the country.
 - (B) Noise in the country is as disgusting to me as it is to all right thinking people.
 - (C) My disgust at noise will be understood by any right thinking person who has lived in the country.
 - (D) It is inconceivable that a right thinking person in the country could fail to understand my disgust at noise.

Items 32–41

Instructions: Read the following extract carefully and then answer Items 32–41 on the basis of what is stated or implied.

The moment Aldrick stepped outside, Carnival hit him. And his heart grew big, and he felt a softness flow over him, and on the street, the steelband and masqueraders were assembling. The months of practising and sewing and painting and building were flowing together in the stillness of the morning under the eyes of women and children who had awakened from sleep and dressed hurriedly to come out and watch their band, to see their people, to admire them and cheer them and to accompany them, to tramp the pavement, while the masqueraders occupied the street, as a sort of guard, right into Port-of-Spain.

It hit him, the red and black and gold and green, the colours and the feathers and the satin, and the people's faces with that look in their eyes, and the smell of cologne and face powder, and the smell of grease and the look of wonder on the children's faces, and the little fellows with sailor caps on; and what reverence and what awe as they alone in the whole world had the real eyes to see the real thing, to see heroes, to see giants, to see gods.

And watching, fascinated by it all, as if he were seeing with the boys' eyes, Aldrick felt a tallness and a pride, felt his hair rise on his head. And full of brimming with furious tears, Aldrick felt again the fierce love and hope that he had doubted in himself, felt again a sense of mission, felt that yes, there was a place here for him, that there was something to say yes to, and people before whom and on whose behalf he could dance the dragon. With a strong, piercing scream, he stepped into the street, his chains rattling, his arms outflung, his head lolling, in a slow threatening dance of the Beast, so that the people of the Hill turned to him, recognizing him, said "Yes! Yes! That is Dragon!"

Adapted from Earl Lovelace, The Dragon Can't Dance, Longman Group Ltd, 1979, pp. 135–137.

32. The words "hit him" (lines 1 and 8) are used to emphasize the impact of

- (A) the excitement of carnival
- (B) objects being thrown at persons
- (C) collisions taking place on the streets
- (D) the noise and the smells of carnival

33. "And his heart grew big" (line 1) means that Aldrick

- (A) wanted to cry
- (B) felt great pride
- (C) felt quite angry
- (D) wanted to join a band

Items 42-49

Instructions: Read the following passage carefully and then answer Items 42-49 on the basis of what is stated or implied.

Land and air and water are filled with living things, but apart from mankind, they scarcely ever change, or, if they do, it is over vast periods of time. Ferns grow and fish swim just as they did long before man walked upon the earth. The industrious ants continue their routine of self-preservation and self-perpetuation as they did when the dinosaurs ruled. But man, in his comparatively brief history, has transformed both the world and himself. His specific quality is purposeful change through thought: he is man, the thinker.

The human brain works like the heart, ceaselessly pulsing, day and night, from childhood to old age. That man thinks all the time is a familiar idea; but it is a less familiar concept that all human history might be best understood as a process of learning. It was by learning that we ceased to be animals and made ourselves into men. Far back in the warm jungles, somehow, cell by cell and reflex by reflex, the wonderful human brain was formed, and with it our two other miraculous human powers: our fantastically intricate speech and our ingenious, adaptable hands.

The earliest tools were scarcely more than lumps of stone, with a few corners chipped off to fit the hands roughly; but gradually, century by century, better stones are selected, and they are chipped and smoothed and rounded and sharpened until they are not only efficient but almost handsome. It is impossible to look at those stone tools, and to imagine their makers, without feeling pity, admiration and affection for our clever, industrious ancestors, and without renewing our reverence for the growth of the human mind.

After the stone tools came the control of fire, the skilful, almost magical, transformation of lumps of earth into hard pottery and durable metal, the creation of the wheel. Equally wonderful, perhaps more wonderful, was the invention or development of plants. Almost everything we consume, except animal food, is part of a plant, carefully bred from selected stock: wheat, sugar, fruits, tobacco, hemp, cotton. Some intelligent man or woman found each plant growing wild in the jungle, tasted or tested it, and by patient experiment discovered how to rear and improve it.

This was one of the real beginnings of civilization. In that slow, patient process, men improved the plants, and the plants improved men. Men ceased to live at random; they settled down, and grew together. Cultivated fields made men invent rules and observe seasons; therefore laws were devised, the calendar was established, and astronomy became a science. By such and other growth, we moved from primitive animalism, through primitive human savagery, to civilization.

Source: Unknown

Read the following advertisement carefully and then answer Items 55-60 on the is stated or implied.

A
C
N
E
•
B
E
•
G
O
N
E
•

1
•
P
R
O
D
U
C
T
•
I
N
•
T
H
E
•
W
O
R
L
D

Teenagers across the Caribbean are all talking about it
ACNE BE GONE!

#1
product on the market

Tested
by Dermatologists

APPROVED

Do you want to clear all unsightly blemishes?
Do you want your confidence back?
Do you want a date for graduation?
You can do all these things with

ACNE BE GONE!

Now available in stores near you at this special introductory price of

~~$20.00~~

~~$15.00~~

$9.99

(while stocks last)

It really works!

Take the CHOCOLATE TEST!

You can eat anything you want and not break out with

ACNE BE GONE!

Side effects include swelling and rashes. Consult your doctor.

A
C
N
E
•
B
E
•
G
O
N
E
•

1
•
P
R
O
D
U
C
T
•
I
N
•
T
H
E
•
W
O
R
L
D