QUESTION #3

Score Awarded:	18 marks
Total Possible Score:	20 marks
Rating:	EXCELLENT

The candidate performed creditably on most parts of the question. A summarised account of the performance of this candidate is outlined below.

Question 3a (i)

The candidate was able to prepare the journal entries correctly and was awarded full marks.

Question 3a (ii)

The candidate was able to correctly prepare the summarised cash book correctly entering all the relevant errors identified given in a (i) above. Full marks were awarded.

Question 3b (i)

The candidate was able to use the relevant information from the summarised cash book to prepare the updated cash book. However, he/she failed to recognise that the unpresented cheque and the bank lodgement were not to be included in the updated cash book. Consequently, the candidate failed to arrive at the correct updated cash book balance. The marks awarded: K-1, A-2 and I-2.

Question 3b (ii)

The candidate knew the correct format for the Bank Reconciliation Statement. A K-1 mark was awarded for correct heading. However, he/se failed to enter the correct updated cash book balance. In spite of the fact that the candidate knew how to treat unpresented cheques and bank lodgements, they entered both amounts as zero. The candidate therefore lost the A-2 marks awarded for this error.

QUESTION #3

Score Awarded:	15 marks
Total Possible Score:	20 marks
Rating:	SATISFACTORY

The candidate demonstrated adequate knowledge and understanding of the general principles of preparing Bank Reconciliation Statement and journalizing.

With respect for question 3a(i), the candidate was able to prepare correct journal entries to correct the errors gaining A-6 marks but losing a K-1 mark for the heading.

The response for Question 3a (ii), the candidate was able to identify and treat correctly only one of the errors in the summarised cash book. As a result he/she lost a K-1 mark for not starting with the opening balance as instructed; and 2-1 marks for not treating the remaining errors correctly.

The response for question 3b (i), the candidate provided a good response except for the fact that 1 –1 mark was lost for the omission of the $390 with respect to the dishonoured cheque. Question 3b (ii) was very well answered thereby gaining the maximum amount of marks.

QUESTION #3

Score Awarded:	08 marks
Total Possible Score:	20 marks
Rating:	UNSATISFACTORY

Weaknesses:

The Journal

The student obtained A3 marks. The marks were given because in one case, the student had the correct debit and credit figure of $467 but failed to identify correctly the books or accounts that were affected. On the other hand, the student was able to identify the correct account but was unable to calculate the correct sum to be debited and credited. Hence, he/she failed to obtain the additional A3 marks.

The summarised cash book

Student obtained one K1 mark for the opening cash book balance. However, the student failed to recognise that cheques not recorded should be deducted and should have hence been placed on the credit side of the Cash Book. Also, the student omitted the difference in payment of $27 for the purchase of goods valued at $330.00 and the cheque received from C Samnah for $290.00 which was debited in Samnah's account and credited in the cash book was entered on the wrong side by the student.

The Updated Cashbook

The opening balance was omitted as well as the Direct Debit total. Cheque returned as well as, Standing Order was not entered in the account. Hence, the student lost 1-I mark as well as 2-A marks awarded for this section of the question.

Bank Reconciliation Statement

The student seemed to have understood the format but was unable to correctly apply the concept learnt.

The incorrect opening balance was also used, that is, the adjusted cash book balance or the bank statement balance.

Strength

The student was able to obtain most of the K marks and unlike many other students, was able to prepare or use the correct journal format to answer the first section of the question.
